A ROUNDTABLE OF URBAN LEADERS ON CURRENT MOBILITY CHALLENGES AND SOLUTIONS

This digital roundtable will bring together senior city transportation leaders from around the US to engage in a discussion that will help participants assess how the pandemic, and other recent trends are impacting the mobility needs of local citizens and businesses and changing transportation patterns.

In the discussion, we'll identify barriers to building efficient, equitable and resilient mobility systems and how urban and regional leaders are addressing them. Drawing on data-driven trends and case studies from our smart city research, we encourage participants to discuss pain points, solutions, best practices, and their current plans.
